Rights of Data Subject

Under Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation) and Act No. 18/2018 Coll. on the Protection of Personal Data and on amendments and supplements to certain acts (hereinafter the “Act”) you, as a data subject have guaranteed the following rights:

a) the right of the Data Subject to access personal data containing:

- the right to obtain a confirmation from the Controller whether data concerning the Data Subject is being processed;
- if personal data of the Data Subject is being processed, the right to access processed personal data and the right to obtain such data;
 - information on purposes for processing;
 - information on categories of personal data concerned;
 - information on recipients or categories of recipients to whom personal data is or will be provided, in particular for recipients in third countries or international organizations;
 - if possible, information on assumed time for retention of personal data or if not possible, information on criteria to determine the same;
 - information on existence of the right to require the Controller to rectify personal data related to the Data Subject or erasure or restriction of its processing and on existence of the right to object such processing;
 - information on the right to file a complaint to the supervisory body;
 - if personal data was not collected from the Data Subject then any available information concerning source thereof;
 - information on existence of the automated decision-making including profiling provided in Art.22(1) to (4) of the Regulation and in such cases at least meaningful information on procedure used, as well as on meaning and assumed consequences of such processing of personal data for the Data Subject;
- The right to be informed on adequate guarantees under Art.46 of the Regulation related to transfer of personal data if personal data is transferred to a third country or international organization;
- The right to provision of a copy of personal data being processed, provided, however, that the right to provide a copy of personal data being processed must not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others;

The right of the Data Subject to access personal data in essence means that the Data Subject has the right to obtain confirmation from us whether personal data concerning him/her is being processed and if so, he/she has the right to access such personal data. We will provide a copy of personal data being processed upon request of the Data Subject. We may charge a reasonable fee corresponding to administrative costs for any other copies required by the Data Subject. Where the Data Subject has made a request by electronic means, the information shall be provided in a commonly used electronic form, unless the Data Subject has requested otherwise. Information must be provided immediately, within 1 month at the latest. We reserve the right to extend the time for processing a request by another 2 months if a request is complicated or frequent. However, we are obliged to inform the Data Subject a reason for extension of the processing time within 1 month. We are entitled to a fee corresponding to costs or refuse a request in case of unjustified or too frequent request. We need to explain the reason for refusal and the right of the Data Subject to address the supervisory body with complaint.

b) the right of the Data Subject to rectify personal data containing:

- The right to have immediately rectified incorrect data related to the Data Subject by the Controller.
- the right to have completed incomplete personal data of the Data Subject even by provision of complementary declaration of the Data Subject;

The right of the Data Subject to rectify personal data means that you may ask us anytime to rectify or complete your personal data if inaccurate or incomplete. The Data Subject has the right to have completed incomplete personal data even by provision of a complementary declaration.

c) the right of the Data Subject to erasure of personal data (the right “to be forgotten”) containing:

- the right to obtain, without undue delay, the erasure of personal data relating to the Data Subject, if any of the following reasons are fulfilled:
 - personal data is no longer necessary for the purposes for which it was obtained or otherwise processed;
 - the Data Subject withdraws the consent under which the processing is carried out, provided that there is no other legal basis for the processing of personal data;
 - the Data Subject objects to the processing of personal data under Art. 21(1) of the Regulation and no legitimate grounds for processing personal data prevail or the Data Subject objects to the processing of personal data pursuant to Art. 21(2) of the Regulation;
 - personal data was processed illegally;
 - personal data must be erased to meet a legal obligation under European Union law or the law of a member state to which the Controller is subject;
 - personal data was collected in relation to the offer of services of information society under Art.8(1) of the Regulation;
- the right that the Controller, who had disclosed personal data of the Data Subject, having regard for the technology available and the cost of implementing the appropriate measures, including technical measures informs the other controllers who carry out the processing of personal data that the Data Subject asks to erase all references to such personal data, a copy or replicas thereof;

while it is true that the right to erasure of personal data with the contents of rights under Art. 17(1) and (2) of the Regulation [that is with the contents of the rights under Point J(c)(i) and (ii) of this document] does not arise where the processing of personal data is necessary:

1. to apply the right for freedom of speech and for information;
2. to fulfil a legal obligation requiring processing under European Union law or the law of a member state to which the Controller is subject, or to perform a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority entrusted to the Controller;
3. due to public interest in the field of public health in accordance with Art.9(2)(h) and (i) of the Regulation, and Art.9(3) of the Regulation;

4. for archiving in the public interest, for scientific and historical research or statistical purposes under Art.89(1) of the Regulation if it is probable that the right granted in Art.17(1) of the Regulation makes it impossible or seriously difficult to achieve the goals of such processing of personal data; or

5. to prove, apply and defend legal claims;

The right of the Data Subject to erasure of personal data means that we have to erase your personal data if (i) no longer needed for purposes for which it was collected or otherwise processed, (ii) processing is illegal, (iii) you object to processing and there are no prevailing justified reasons for processing or (iv) we are obliged to do by any legal obligation.

d) the right of the Data Subject to restrict the processing of personal data containing:

- the right to have the Controller restricted the processing of personal data if one of the following cases occurs:
 - the Data Subject challenges the lawfulness of personal data during a period allowing the Controller to verify correctness of personal data;
 - the processing of personal data is illegal and the Data Subject challenges the erasure of personal data and requests restriction of its use instead;
 - the Controller no longer need personal data for processing but the Data Subject needs it for proving, application or defending legal claims;
 - the Data Subject objected to processing under Art. 21(1). of the Regulation until verification whether the legitimate reasons of the Controller overweight the legitimate interests of the Data Subject;
- the right that if the processing of personal data was restricted under Point(J)(d)(i) of this document, such restricted personal data is, except for retention, be processed only with the consent of the Data Subject or to establish, assert or defend legal claims, or to protect the rights of another natural or legal person, or for important public interest reasons of the European Union or a member state;
- the right to be informed in advance on cancellation of restriction of the processing of personal data;

The right of the Data Subject to restrict the processing of personal data means that until we have solved any disputes regarding the processing of your personal data, we must restrict the processing of your personal data so that we can only retain personal data of the Data Subject and not further process it.

e) the right of the Data Subject to notification obligation towards recipients containing:

- the right that the Controller notifies to each recipient to whom personal data was provided each rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing under Art.16, Art.17(1) and Art.18 of the Regulation unless proven impossible or if it requires excessive effort;
- the right that the Controller informs the Data Subject on such recipients if the Data Subject requires so;

The right of the Data Subject to notification obligation towards recipients means in particular the obligation of the Controller to notify each recipient to whom personal data of the Data Subject was provided each rectification or erasure of personal data or restriction of processing. The Controller is relieved only when proven impossible or if it requires excessive efforts.

f) the right of the Data Subject to portability of personal data containing:

- the right to obtain personal data related to the Data Subject and that provided to the Controller, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and the right to transfer this data to another controller without being prevented by the Controller if:
 - processing is based on consent of the Data Subject under Art.6(1)(a) of the Regulation or Art. 9(2)(a) of the Regulation or contractually agreed under Art.6(1)(b) of the Regulation; and at the same time;
 - processing is automated; and at the same time;
 - the right to obtain personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and the right to transfer this data to another controller without being prevented by the Controller will not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others;
- the right to transfer personal data directly from one controller to another, if technically possible;

The right to portability of data means that you have the right to obtain from us personal data you have previously provided us with in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to request that we transfer your personal data to another controller subject to legal conditions; exercising this right is without prejudice to your right to erase personal data. The right to portability however relates only to personal data we collected from you based on a contract you are a party to.

g) the right of the Data Subject to object containing:

- The right to object to processing of personal data related to the Data Subject due to reasons related to a particular situation of the Data Subject, while data is being processed based on Art.6(1)(e) or (f) of the Regulation, including objecting to profiling based on such provisions of the Regulation;
- [For realization of the right to object any time due to reasons related to a specific situation of the Data Subject against the processing of personal data related to the Data Subject under Art.6(1)(e) or (f) of the Regulation, including objecting to profiling based on such provisions of the Regulation] the right for the Controller to refrain from further processing of the personal data of the Data Subject, unless it proves the necessary legitimate reasons for processing that outweigh the interests, rights and freedoms of the Data Subject, or the reasons for establishing, asserting or defending legal claims;
- The right to object to processing of personal data related to the Data Subject for direct marketing, including profiling in a scope related to direct marketing, while it is true that if the Data Subject objects to processing of personal data for direct marketing, personal data shall not be processed for such purposes;
